strengths-based positive youth development approach proven effective in addressing several negative outcomes often associated with American Indian adolescents. Youth will be engaged in a meaningful service-learning project within their communities and attend a 5 to 7-day wilderness camp at the end of the semester. Sexual and reproductive health topics and avoidance strategies include cultural and traditional teachings around healthy relationships.

Teen Pregnancy Prevention (TPP) Program — Tier 2
FY 2015 – FY 2019

University of New Mexico Health Science Center - Albuquerque, NM

Program models: Brief Intervention
$1,000,000

The University of New Mexico Health Sciences Center is working to develop and rigorously evaluate a brief, motivational interviewing-based intervention for teens at risk for unintended pregnancy in primary care. The Brief Intervention targets teens identified via primary care screening to be at risk for pregnancy and can be integrated into routine medical care through a 15-minute individual contact session using a motivational interviewing-based approach. The Brief Intervention will be tested with primarily low income Hispanic and Native American teens (ages 14-19) attending primary care clinics at the Atrisco Center for Family and Community Health and the Albuquerque Job Corps Wellness Center.

Policy and Research, LLC - New Orleans, LA

Program model: Trauma Informed Approach for Adolescent Sexual Health (TIAASH)
$808,386

The grantee intends to implement and monitor a high-quality rigorous evaluation of the Practice Self-Regulation (PS-R) intervention. PS-R is designed for youth age 14-19 who have experienced trauma and are receiving outpatient counseling services. It is composed of 10 structured, one-on-one therapy-education sessions delivered by a therapist over a 16-week period and is intended to promote optimal sexual decision-making within the context of individual therapy. Starting in July 2016 and continuing for two years, 600 participants will be enrolled into the study at partner outpatient clinics that serve youth in Albuquerque, NM and Adrian, MI. The 3rd and 4th years will be used to do the following: collect follow-up data from study participants; conduct implementation and impact evaluation analysis, reporting, and dissemination efforts; and finalize a complete electronic package of the implementation-ready intervention.

TITLE X FAMILY PLANNING SERVICES IN NEW MEXICO

• Title X–supported centers provided contraceptive care to 17,190 women in New Mexico in 2018.5
• Services at Title X-supported centers helped women avoid 5,500 unintended pregnancies, which would have resulted in 2,700 births and 2,000 abortions.
• By preventing sexually transmitted diseases, cervical cancer, and unplanned pregnancies, Title X-supported centers in New Mexico saved $65.9 million in public funds in a single year.
• From FY 2010 to FY 2017, the amount of federal funding New Mexico received for Title X increased by $446,557, which resulted in 24,593 fewer (62%) patients served.
• In 2017, prior to the new Title X rule, 67 clinics in New Mexico received support from Title X. They included health department clinics (43), federally qualified health centers (10), school-based health centers (12), university-based health centers (1) and other service sites (1).
