

SHARED LEARNING COLLABORATIVE

POWER TO DECIDE

SUPPORTING COMMUNITIES THROUGH REPRODUCTIVE WELL-BEING

To build a system of support for reproductive well-being in communities across the country, Power to Decide is convening a Shared Learning Collaborative of up to 10 place-based teams. These teams will be cross-sectoral (e.g., public health, education, economic development, social services, etc.) and include youth representation.

With support from Power to Decide, each team will:

1. Develop and lead a collective impact initiative to increase reproductive well-being in their communities.
2. Build their capacity to establish a collaborative approach to implement a portfolio of evidence-informed interventions that support reproductive well-being.
3. Foster and catalyze innovation within their own team and across teams through participation in a learning community.
4. Share their learnings, stories, and innovations with other teams and with the broader field to seed and inform place-based work in other locations.

Eligibility Criteria:

- Eligible applicants include nonprofits with 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status and non-governmental agencies.
- Apply in teams of 4:
 - » Three members each representing a different sector (e.g., economic development, education, public health, social services, etc.)
 - » One youth member (age 18-25) who will serve as a youth ambassador
- Teams must be engaged in an existing cross-sectoral coalition or initiative that supports sexual and reproductive health prior to applying
- Core team members must also identify the “lead organization” that would serve as the fiscal recipient of the award

*Power to Decide encourages applicants from organizations that work with underserved populations and those that are in states hostile towards reproductive well-being or have partial or total abortion bans.
